

Ricardo Pereira

Ricardo Fernando Silva Santos Pereira was born in Porto, Portugal, in 1959

- 1983 He qualified from the University of Porto, at St. Johns Hospital (Hospital de São João)
- 1993 With the fellowship of the National Health Service (Serviço Nacional de Saúde, SNS), he has graduated as Specialist of General Surgery, at Braga General Hospital, which is committed to the new Minho University Faculty of Medicine
- 1999 He has been admitted to the Department of Surgery
- 1994 He undertook Fellowship of the College of Surgery of the Portuguese Medical Association (Ordem dos Médicos, OM)
- 1996 – 2000 He develops activity as General Surgeon at the Department of Surgery and as Intensive Care Doctor in the Polyvalent Intensive Care Unit at the General Hospital of Braga
- 1999 – 2000 He undertook the Advanced Trauma Life Support (ATLS, ACS), Student and Instructor Courses in Lisbon and became a Portuguese ATLS Instructor
- 2000 to 2002 He undertakes a Post Graduation in Emergency Medicine, at the Porto University of Medicine, S. Johns Hospital (Hospital de São João)
- 2002 He became Senior Consultant of General Surgery
- 2006 He undertook the Definitive Surgical Trauma Care (DSTC, IATSIC) course, in Porto
- 2007 DSTC National Faculty

Currently Ricardo Pereira is still working in the Braga General Hospital as a General Surgeon

Particular keen interests include
 Gastric surgery
 Trauma and Emergency Surgery